

2023-24 RECORD BOOK

HISTORY

The eight Junior C leagues of the Ontario Hockey Association merged for the 2016-17 season to create the Provincial Junior Hockey League.

The union was in an effort to streamline rules across the classification and to promote growth and development.

The leagues that make up the PJHL are the former Central, Empire B, Georgian Mid-Ontario, Great Lakes, Midwestern, Niagara & District, Southern, and Western leagues that are now the eight divisions split into four conferences.

The Tod Division was named after Wayne Tod who served a number of years as league convenor and statistician and also served as a Director for the OHA and the Ontario Hockey Federation.

The Orr Division was named after Jim Orr, a true friend to Junior hockey. Jim served as the League Convenor of the Central Ontario Junior C Hockey League from 1990 to 2016.

The Carruthers Division was named after Paul Carruthers who was a very well respected hockey man in the Georgian Triangle sports community for a number of years.

The Pollock Division was named after Clarke and Kevin Pollock. Both Clarke and Kevin are well respected in hockey circles and particularly around the Kincardine area where they continue to work closely with younger officials.

The Stobbs Division was named after Bill Stobbs who served in numerous roles with the OHA, the Hockey Development Centre of Ontario, the Ontario Hockey Federation, and was Chairman for the Great Lakes League for a number of years.

The Yeck Division was named after Don Yeck who was a special volunteer and friend to the OHA, the Ontario Hockey Federation and minor hockey groups.

The Doherty Division was named after Pat Doherty who was instrumental in the game of hockey in the OHA and across Canada.

The Bloomfield Division was named after Tony Bloomfield and although he never played the game of hockey, Francis Gerald "Tony," dedicated 50 years of his life to administering both minor and junior hockey in Ontario.

SCHMALZ CUP TROPHY

The Clarence "Tubby" Schmalz Cup is the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior C hockey championship and championship trophy for the Provincial Junior Hockey League (PJHL). The PJHL was formed in 2016 when the former 8 Provincial Junior C leagues merged to form one league.

The trophy was named in honour of Clarence (Tubby) Schmalz (1915-1981), a long time hockey administrator who first got involved with organized sports in his adopted hometown of Walkerton, Ontario. He and his brother, his partner in a Walkerton hotel called the Hartley House, sponsored an intermediate softball team that won four consecutive Provincial championships in the 1950s. Tubby Schmalz also operated a hockey team called the Capitols, who competed in the OHA Intermediate B ranks. He became an OHA director in 1956 and remained an active member of the organization for the next 22 years.

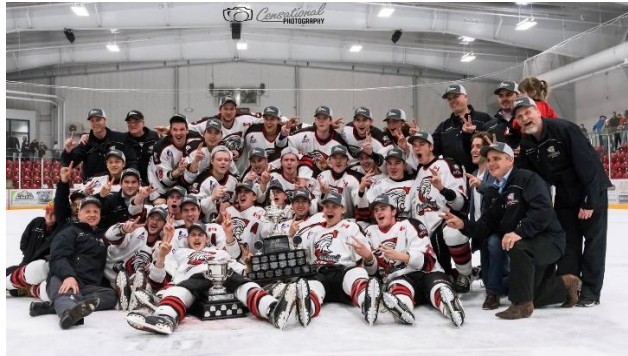

Schmalz served as OHA president from 1969 to 1972. In 1974 the Major Junior A program began operating independently of the association as the Ontario Major Junior Hockey League; Schmalz became the league's first commissioner, a post he held until 1978.

The OHA presented Schmalz with a Gold Stick award in 1977 in recognition of his contributions to the association, and a year later made him a life member. In 1979 he received a meritorious service award from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (now known as Hockey Canada). That same year, he was elected vice-chairman of the CAHA's board of directors, and was elected chairman in May 1981.

Less than seven months later, on the morning of Dec. 7, 1981, he died suddenly of a heart attack, 12 days before his 65th birthday.

OHA directors formed an honour guard at his funeral two days later at Sacred Heart Church in Walkerton. The association renamed the OHA Junior C Cup in his memory a year later, and then collaborated with Schmalz's family in the creation of a commemorative trophy case in the lobby of the Walkerton Community Centre.
